

City of Riverbend — Comprehensive Annual Financial Report

Prepared by Department of Finance

Management Discussion

The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified. The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions.

Sales tax receipts grew 4.2 percent, outpacing the adopted budget forecast by a full point. Sales tax receipts grew 4.2 percent, outpacing the adopted budget forecast by a full point. The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures. Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures.

The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. Sales tax receipts grew 4.2 percent, outpacing the adopted budget forecast by a full point. The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. Sales tax receipts grew 4.2 percent, outpacing the adopted budget forecast by a full point.

Fund Balances

Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions. Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified. The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs.

Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures.

The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified. The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified. The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified. Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. The auditor issued an unmodified opinion with no material weaknesses identified.

Debt and Pensions

The rainy day reserve was drawn once during the year to cover storm response costs. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures.

The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. Capital outlay totaled 142 million dollars, concentrated in roads, parks, and facility renewal. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures.

Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions. The general fund closed the fiscal year with an unassigned balance equal to 17 percent of expenditures. Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions. Debt service remains below the ten percent policy ceiling at 6.8 percent of governmental expenditures. Pension contributions rose to 28 percent of covered payroll under the updated actuarial assumptions.