

Memo: Influenza Season Preparedness

Prepared by Epidemiology Unit

Summary

Emergency department visits for respiratory illness peaked in the second week of January. Community health workers completed 15,000 home visits under the maternal health initiative. Emergency department visits for respiratory illness peaked in the second week of January. Community health workers completed 15,000 home visits under the maternal health initiative. Community health workers completed 15,000 home visits under the maternal health initiative.

Action Items

Influenza vaccination coverage among adults 65 and older reached 71 percent this season. Public health laboratories processed 62,000 specimens with a median turnaround of 26 hours. Overdose deaths declined 9 percent, the first decrease recorded in six years. Public health laboratories processed 62,000 specimens with a median turnaround of 26 hours. Emergency department visits for respiratory illness peaked in the second week of January.